

My dear, dear Puppe,

Have to take this last opportunity to quickly write to you. Went to see Boni yesterday who told me that he will talk to you on the phone today. That makes me very jealous! He also told me about an acquaintance who will be traveling to Switzerland tomorrow and will take my mail along.

Hope that Juerg has given you my last letter. He had been in Vienna for only half a day and in the worst mood because his luggage had been stolen with many extremely important things. Puppe, I now have yet another request: Please be so kind and mail my other letters. The one to Juerg is VERY important {it contains several confirmations and receipts etc} and it is VERY URGENT. Maybe you could call him to come right away and pick up the letter. Tell him to rush, it is urgent!! The other letters you can just put in the mail. Please tell Juerg that when he comes to Vienna next time, to please bring me some airmail paper and envelopes and especially a few Swiss stamps. Last time, I forgot to ask him for it.

About the books for Anton: The other day I talked to Mrs. Urban personally { she is of the book store "Urban and Schwarzenberg" which only carries technical and science books}. I gave her the titles of your books and she promised to forward the information and call me back. If there is a chance to find these books it is there. Hope she will be successful.

The little calendar which I am including is for you. Hope you will think of me from time to time whenever you need to look up a date.

Dear Puppe, you have no idea what pleasure you have given me with the blue sweater (Mia had sent to Koritschoner, Giulia to wear on the flight to USA). Last letter I only mentioned it briefly because Juerg had given me your things at the last minute. {Unfortunately, part of what you sent was in the stolen suitcase}. This sweater is more than just a warm sweater. It is so soft and blue as soon as one puts it on, one immediately feels like a different person. Maybe you will laugh at me now, but I never knew how a color can influence one's emotions. I always feel like an innocent little angel whenever I am wearing it. Don't you think that's elating?

Something else, want to quickly send you a drawing of the Grinzing square. I don't know whether Boni's friend will take it along. I drew it some time ago. Maybe it will please you and remind you of our old Grinzing.
